- The Jini Na project partners attended DGTI (transfusion medicine) conference in Düsseldorf, Germany with a presentation of a project at AKTH to improve safe transfusions:

- A poster presentation was presented by the collaborators of AKTH, German Red Cross, University Rostock and University Greifswald:
“First red cell panel for alloantibody differentiation available in Northern Nigeria”.

Professor Wagner and a colleague from the German Red Cross visited the poster wall, his group performed the genotyping of the AKTH staff donors to produce the panel cells.

These dots were stuck by attendees to mark their favorite posters.

Prof. Aisha Kuliya-Gwarzo of AKTH presenting at the DGTI Conference in Germany.
